FLOOR DEBATE

Fund, yes.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Okay. Well, there's a Department of Justice Cash Fund also, and that money will go into the ALR fund?

SENATOR D. PEDERSON: Yes.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Okay. Then we get down to the Child Protection Cash Fund. So I wanted to mention all of these by name for the purpose of the record, but when we get right down to it, all of these different funds that were mentioned will wind up in the ALR Cash Fund for a period of time.

SENATOR D. PEDERSON: That's correct.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: And from that fund, that ALR Cash Fund, will things other than ALR activity be funded?

SENATOR D. PEDERSON: They will use that money at the end...in the next fiscal year, then, after it's transferred.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: And they can use that for the child protection and all these other things that the specific cash funds existed for?

SENATOR D. PEDERSON: Yeah, once it's in the ALR fund, it's to be used solely for that purpose.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Then all these others will not be funded during that period. Is that true?

SENATOR D. PEDERSON: They all have existing appropriations, I understand.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: So in the Justice Department Cash Fund and the Child Protection Cash Fund, there is money that will remain there after this transfer that we're talking about. There will be a transfer, and then those funds will be replenished by appropriations?
